

REV. CRAWFORD JACKSON IS FULLY EXONERATED

Court Throws Out Case Against Head of Juvenile Home—Friends Pay Tribute

Complete exoneration has resulted in the case of Rev. Crawford Jackson, head of the Juvenile Protective association, who was the subject of sensational charges made some time ago by a young girl in his employ.

While the charges resulted in Mr. Jackson's indictment by the grand jury at that time, the case has since been nolle prossed. Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey went before Judge Benjamin H. Hill, of the criminal branch of the superior court, stating that he had carefully investigated the charges and found them without any foundation whatsoever, and asked that the case be dropped, to which Judge Hill readily agreed.

In this connection, it is worthy to note the loyalty of Mr. Jackson's friends while he was laboring under unjust charges. Not only did the officers of the Juvenile Protective association forward with voluntary testimonials to his good character, but many friends and acquaintances made it a point to testify to the splendid reputation of the accused and to the morality of the work which he had been doing.

"JUDICIAL HONOR," says the chief of these testimonials is one by General O. H. Anderson, in which he says that Mr. Jackson should be judged, not by false statements, but by the work which he has been doing.

"Modesty and quietness," says General Anderson, "has been the keynote of the last twenty years, devoted almost entirely to one purpose, the establishment of laws and order for the protection of men and women of character and virtue."

The work of the Juvenile Protective association, as indicated in an outline, has been state-wide in scope, and that having been associated personally with Mr. Jackson, he was convinced that the charges against him were groundless.

The work of the Juvenile Protective association, as indicated in an outline, has been state-wide in scope, and that having been associated personally with Mr. Jackson, he was convinced that the charges against him were groundless.

These are some of the testimonials which came to Mr. Jackson before his vindication.

THURSDAY FROM FRIENDS.

"I congratulate you, Mr. Jackson, on your exoneration. I sincerely hope there will be no more put over your enemies."

"MRS. A. F. TAYLOR, Atlanta, Ga."

"Dear Friend and Brother:

"I assure you, you have my deepest sympathy and confidence. May God help and sustain you in this hour of persecution."

"Your friend and brother,"

"J. A. MOSS, Atlanta, Ga."

"God bless you, Brother Jackson. I have been thinking about you. They tried to get it on you, but they could not do it."

Rev. C. A. Ridley's spontaneous statement in the Central Baptist church before a large outdoor gathering of 26, on recognizing Mr. Jackson in the audience.

Judge W. R. Hammond, Atlanta, Ga.

"Dear Sir:

"We believe him incapable of so gross a crime as he has been accused. His conduct while visiting in our home held at Junior State, warrants this faith in him."

"We believe God gave him this faith in him, and feel that he will be able to accomplish God's plan by helping to accomplish the work with him."

"Very sincerely,"

"C. M. COPELAND, Sup't. (MISS) LILLIAN HENDRY, 'Matron."

"(MISS) MABLE HOTCHKISS, 'Teacher."

"I have known intimately Mr. Crawford Jackson for a number of years, and have never known anything in his conduct other than that of a Christian gentleman."

As founder of the Juvenile Protective association, which before its charter and after has led to the creation of several institutions for the welfare of juvenile delinquents, he proved his foresight, his philosophy and his fidelity.

"W. R. HAMMOND, Atlanta, Ga."

"This way of accepting the word of 'whimsical girls on the street' is a far cry from the real thing. They seem to invite and work for cheap notoriety and revel in sensation born of the carnal nature. He secured my confidence and assistance when you can use me."

"Sincerely yours,"

"A. A. DELOACH, Atlanta, Ga."

"From my friends and associates, with and intimate knowledge of Mr. Crawford Jackson for a number of years, who the vital and essential work he has done for misfortunate children in this city, state and throughout the southland, I am prepared to say that he is not only the father of the organized movement for juvenile reform legislation, but that he is beyond my comprehension why any person or persons should seek to injure or threaten to hinder either the man or the movement."

This picture occupies about an hour and a half and is a splendid picture in which all of its different departments are described. It shows the cultural methods and shows results attained from the early days of agriculture in Egypt down to the present time. The thousands of boys and girls who gather here for the corn show will be invited to witness this production free of charge.

It is contemplated by the department of agriculture, after showing the picture here for the corn show boys to place it in other theaters where many of Georgia's farmers will have an opportunity of seeing and profiting therefrom.

Cleared of Charge

Chief Beavers Arranges Signal
System—Three Blasts Means
Stop and Look Out

Beginning at noon Thursday traffic on the congested downtown streets will be controlled by whistle blasts. Each traffic officer will be equipped with a peculiarly shrill whistle and the number of blasts will indicate the line of traffic which has the right of way.

Chief Beavers has studied the use of traffic whistles in New York, Cincinnati and other large cities, and has found that as soon as the public become familiar with the meaning of the various signals the movement of traffic is greatly facilitated.

The whistle signals adopted by Chief Beavers for Atlanta are as follows: One blast means that north and south traffic has the right of way and will proceed, while east and west will stop.

Two blasts means that east and west traffic has the right of way and will proceed, while north and south traffic will stop.

Three blasts means emergency and possible danger. When these blasts are blown by a traffic officer, all vehicles must pull up to the right curb and stop and all pedestrians must get upon the sidewalks.

Three blasts will be blown by ambulances and police patrols on busy calls, runaway horses and similar occasions.

Every citizen is urged by Chief Beavers to study these signals so he may understand them correctly and govern accordingly.

The first signals will be first instituted at Five Points, intersection of Whitehall and Alabama streets, and at the intersection of Mitchell and Forsyth streets. Later all traffic policemen in the city will be equipped with the whistles.

At a meeting of the council of the town of Decatur, to be held Friday night, an application for a gas franchise will be considered. The application is in the name of the Dekalb Gas Service company. This firm has been incorporated in Dekalb county by Philadelphia, Mo., who are represented by Neal G. Goss, an attorney of Decatur.

If this is successful in obtaining a franchise in Decatur, it will probably be the first gas franchise in the state. East Lake, according to Attorney Goss.

The board of directors of the Decatur board of trade will hold a session Thursday night for the purpose of arranging for the "Georgia products dinner" which will be given at the Georgia hotel, in the name of the Georgia products dinner.

It is also the leading granite producing county in the state, and is, therefore, vitally interested in "Georgia products."

Baby Joe's Bad Dream Calls Policeman to Search for Burglars

Joe Smith, aged "half-past five," sat up in his bed at his mother's home, 184 Ivy street, Wednesday night, and heard strange noises in the next room. Joe, whether by dream or by imagination, was working overtime, is a question, but because his mother had stepped out for a minute and he was all alone in the crawling darkness, he at once thought of burglars.

With Joe to think was to act. He fell out of the covers with a bump that must have scared away a dozen bold thieves, acried to the telephone, and with remarkable intuition for a child of five, called "Main 21."

Three minutes later Officers Milam and Cochran roared toward the "scene of crime" on their motorcycles. Meantime, Joe had taken refuge over the way in a neighbor's house. A crowd of citizens, headed by the two policemen and trailed at the extremity by young Joe, entered the house, ransacked it, and nothing—save the cat in the room next to Joe's.

And when Mrs. Smith arrived last on the scene, and when officers and neighbors had dispersed, she and Joe repaired to the bedroom where Joe's imagination was curbed by strong local police action.

Catching Cold on the Street Car

Many people persist in riding on the street cars, insufficiently protected by wraps. They start out perhaps in the heat of the day and do not feel the need of wraps.

The rapid moving of the car cools the body unduly. When they board the car perhaps they are slightly perspiring. When the body is in this condition it is easily chilled. This is especially true when the car is crowded.

Beginning a street car ride in the middle of the day and ending it in the evening almost invariably requires extra wraps, but people do not observe these precautions, hence they catch cold. Colds are very frequent in the autumn and winter months.

Always wear wraps.

One Dose in Ten Days Cures Cough, Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Eczema, Scabies, Ringworm, etc.

Many people should be taken according to directions on the bottle, and continued until every symptom disappears. Do not put it off. Do not waste time by talking it over. Begin at once to take Peruna, and continue taking it until you are positive that the cold has entirely disappeared. This may save you a long and perhaps serious illness later on.

Cold Causes Deafness.

Mr. Turner Sampson, R. F. D. 5, Manchester, N. H., writes: "I have been troubled with catarrh in my head by spells for a number of years. Last July I took a hard cold and was dead on my feet for a half hour. I thought it would never be any better. I took a bottle and was cured. I would advise any one who is afflicted with colds, catarrh, or any other ailment, that they will experience the relief that I have."

She Took Cold Easily.

Mrs. C. E. Long writes from Box 49, Lindsay, Cal., as follows: "My little girl had a cough that had been troubling her for four months. She took cold easily, and would wheeze and have spells of coughing that would sometimes last for a half hour. Before she began taking your Peruna she suffered everything. The way of cough, colds and croup, but now she is well and strong as she has ever been in her life."

Those who object to liquid medicines can procure Peruna Tablets. (ADV.)

CHAUFFEUR LOSES BOND; HIS REARREST ORDERED

Breihn, Whose Car Injured
Miss Hughes, Fails to Appear Before Recorder

B. E. Breihn, chauffeur for Otto von B. Dingshof, failed to appear in recorder's court when his case was called Wednesday afternoon. Judge Broyles ordered his bond forfeited and Breihn re-arrested. Breihn had not been found at noon Thursday.

Breihn is the chauffeur who ran down and narrowly escaped killing Miss Mary Hughes, of 17 West Canal street, about three weeks ago.

Recorder Broyles asked reckless drivers and speeders in ordering Breihn re-arrested.

"Entirely too many accidents are the result of carelessness and indifference on the part of automobilists," he stated. "This reckless driving must stop."

According to Murphy, Tammany is merely postponed.

It looks as if congress would have to hang up its stocking in Washington.

Senator LaFollette, along with close to 100,000,000 other Americans, believe that President Wilson is in the right.

A Big Spring Street.

It is a big civic improvement that is planned in the rebuilding of Spring street. The project is to extend it through from its present terminus to form a junction with Peachtree road at Brookwood, and to regrade it and widen it and pave it anew throughout its length. Further, the plan contemplates a viaduct across the railroads to connect the town end of the street with Madison avenue near the Terminal station.

Mayor Woodward has given the movement his commendation and has promised it his active support.
"Spring street is the one street in Atlanta that will relieve present congested conditions," he is quoted as saying after the other afternoon at a meeting of the property owners and others interested in the improvement. The work was organized at that meeting, and an executive committee soon will take in hand the details of the task.

That there is great need for relieving the traffic congestion of north and south travel on the north side, few doubt. No other city than Atlanta could have grown to her present size with such unintersectable streets as have been called upon to serve as arteries to the great trunk thoroughfare, Peachtree.
Ivy street, recently improved, has begun to take much of the congestion from Peachtree between Forrest avenue and town. West Peachtree will help vastly, but it begins and ends on Peachtree street.
Spring street is the only practicable thoroughway between town and country that can relieve the whole length of Peachtree south from Brookwood bridge into the city.

The proposed improvement of Spring street is a most important project. It will meet a big and pressing necessity. Its advancement should receive the hearty cooperation of all who can help. Mayor Woodward has taken a sound position. The council should indorse his stand, and get behind the plans and put them through.

In New York as elsewhere in fashion there is strength.

Huerta handles his currency situation with a simple decree.

There is much crying out against the high cost of living and the low stage of income, and yet the government is begging men to work. A bandmaster can't get a job at the federal prison and a night watchman is wanted at the postoffice building.

A Model Postoffice Here.

It is gratifying news that the postmaster general has decided to make of the Atlanta postoffice a model.
This does not imply that it is inefficient now save in such ways as present rules and regulations limit its efficiency. It means that the rules and regulations themselves are to be amended, and that in his admirable endeavor to give Atlanta the best postal service ever has had, Postmaster Bolling Jones is to receive the direct cooperation and the expert advice of department headquarters.

Postmaster General Burleson's belief that the postal department is intended to serve the public as economically as possible but not to declare dividends is reflected in this study that is to be made of the Atlanta postoffice. Results here and at other large offices toward which similar attention will be directed, will be used for the improvement of the entire system.

When it comes to making a move, Huerta seems to be stationary.

The price of cotton still remains in the approximate altitude of the price of living.

No need to send the army to Mexico. A few football teams and a yell or two would rout those Mexicans.

The Automobile Floral Parade.

The cordial interest which all Atlanta feels in the automobile show can be manifested next Tuesday by making the automobile floral parade a great big success.

There are two pertinent considerations. First,
the parade and the trophies which are to be won after sufficient independent in themselves for anyone who owns a car and takes pride in it. To enter.
Second, the fact that Atlantians owe to the Automobile and Accessory association, which is behind the annual show, merited repayment with spirit and enthusiasm.

The parade next Tuesday will be one of the most attractive features of the show program. Atlanta's automobilists should make it an event worth remembering.

Save the Blind Man's Home.

For several days Atlanta has been reading that the industrial home for the blind in this city is on the verge of sale for debt. Yet little has been done to avert that.

Shall we let it go? Shall this good work be ended for lack of three thousand dollars?
By no means! Atlanta's heart is too kind for that. She has not been impressed by the urgent need that exists. Somehow and from some source, she thought, such a little sum would be forthcoming and everything would be all right. But it has been futile. Half a dozen men could not shoulder the whole burden. They are holding the weight now, but it is only until Atlanta can go to their aid.

Let everybody help. Give much, give little, but give something—here's a chance to do real good.
The blind people ask a chance to support themselves.
It is all they want. Let's see that they get it.

That cannot happen, now that Atlanta is awake to the urgency of the situation—but what a pity it would have been to let this home go to pieces on the rocks of a little debt! How many blind men and women then would have been reduced from independence in the work of their own hands, to dependence upon the community or their relatives; and what a vast deal of hope and the good cheer that comes from toil would have been stricken from their future years!

They make blooms in that little institution of themselves. With eyes unseeing, they guide their fingers at the simple trade of fashioning one of the homely household necessities.

They had learned the trade and were doing well at it, when the debt on the purchase price of their home stopped their fingers and sent them out and shut the doors of opportunity. It was not their fault. It was the fault of no one. They had hoped against hope that they would not only be self-sustaining (as they were) but also would earn enough to finish buying the property.

Now is the time for all of us to realize what we should do in this matter. The Journal has contributed $100, and other subscriptions from individuals have built the total to approximately one-sixth of what is needed. Let all whirl in together and save this good work right now.

Ignorance is the mother of fool arguments.

Why hire a trained nurse to nurse a grievance?

It must also be admitted that the vote for Colonel Roosevelt wasn't very heavy.

Incidentally congress is reminded that the country is still Democratic—in more ways than one.

American elections, Mexico and a few other things just now give the American cartoonist all the material he wants.

Mr. LaFollette's Fairness.

It is refreshing to hear such open and frank approval of the administration from a Republican party leader as that which United States Senator Robert M.
LaFollette, of Wisconsin, uttered in Atlanta Wednesday. Mr. LaFollette expresses high admiration for "the skillful and diplomatic way" in which President Wilson is handling the delicate Mexican problem. He asserts confidently that if the Mexican question reaches the crisis of force, the president will have behind him the unanimous support of congress without regard to party.

Mr. LaFollette says that President Wilson seems to have won the confidence of the entire country and to have still the criticism once made of him that he was not sufficiently aggressive. In that the Wisconsin statesman is eminently right. Congress and the people whom it represents are together in the feeling that the very serious situation between the United States and Mexico is being guided on our side by a strong, sure and conservative hand.

Postmaster General Burleson's belief that the postal department is intended to serve the public as economically as possible but not to declare dividends
is reflected in this study that is to be made of the Atlanta postoffice. Results here and at other large offices toward which similar attention will be directed, will be used for the improvement of the entire system.

When it comes to making a move, Huerta seems
to be stationary.

The price of cotton still remains in the approximate altitude of the price of living.

No need to send the army to Mexico. A few football teams and a yell or two would rout those Mexicans.

The Automobile Floral Parade.

The cordial interest which all Atlanta feels in
the automobile show can be manifested next Tuesday by making the automobile floral parade a great big success.

There are two pertinent considerations. First,
the parade and the trophies which are to be won
after sufficient independent in themselves for anyone who owns a car and takes pride in it. To enter.
Second, the fact that Atlantians owe to the Automobile and Accessory association, which is behind the annual show, merited repayment with spirit and enthusiasm.

The parade next Tuesday will be one of the most attractive features of the show program. Atlanta's automobilists should make it an event worth remembering.

A Long Look Backward

By Savoyard

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—We see a heap of curious things in this life. The other day, or rather the other evening, I was passing along a street in the northeast section of this town, and heard a masculine voice singing to the accompaniment of the piano, a song that had not greeted my ears for more than half a century. I knew the singer—"Chin" Price, of Indiana, an Abolitionist, not of the Oliver P. Morton brand, but of the George W. Julian stripe. Morton advocated emancipation for political sake; Julian believed in it for conscience's sake.

Well, this song was an Abolition ditty, and there comes the wonder of what I am going to tell you. It was written by a northern man, evidently opposed to slavery, and it became instantly popular, and nowhere more so than in Harpers county, Ky., a slave-holding community, where abolitionism was almost abhorred by all, including most of the negroes, nearly all of them, in fact.

In North Harpers county was a young man, a school master, his father a slaveholder, his name Isaac Wilkinson. I never saw him, but I have heard him read —advanced me from the old "Blue-Back Speller" to "Goodrich's First." As a mathematician his superior was not in all the land round about. He was the son of a slave master, a textbook relating to the slave that ought to have made his fame as boundless as the rule of "Three and Four."

He was a very athletic man, above six feet, apparently proportioned, properly trained for the "mill."
He had been linked to a greater than John H. Sullivan in the fifth prize ring. And he was a non-resistant you shall see if you have the patience to read this through.

Wilkinson had a fine tenor voice and he was passionately fond of singing. Saturday and Sunday he would gather together the young folks of both sexes of that neighborhood that included what was the very cream of the county—the Blue Spring Coke folks. And, indeed, it was a squirrel-cradled hood. It went to the north the Sixth Kentucky of the "Orphan Brigade," and if you would know it you must go to the north the Sixth Kentucky of the "Orphan Brigade," and if you would know it you must go to the north the Sixth Kentucky of the "Orphan Brigade," and if you would know it you must go to the north the

NEW MUNICIPAL COURT WILL BE ATTACKED SOON

Attorney Robert R. Jackson
Retained by Justice Jordan,
Who Loses Place

Doubt that the proposed municipal court, which is to take the place of the justice of the peace courts in Atlanta, will be attacked on the ground that it is unconstitutional, was removed Thursday by a statement to The Journal by Attorney Robert R. Jackson, of the firm of Grier & Jackson.

Mr. Jackson has been retained by W. T. Jordan, one of the several justices who will be automatically removed from office by the new court, to fight the institution.

Mr. Jackson says that he will start litigation just as soon as the new court begins to speed any of the country's money, which will of necessity be in the next few weeks, when books and other paraphernalia must be purchased for the clerks and other officials.

It is expected that several other justices will join Justice Jordan in the fight to municipal court.

The act creating the court will be attacked upon a number of grounds, and Mr. Jackson declares that he is confident that the supreme court will declare it unconstitutional.

It is probable that the five judges of the new court will receive their commissions from Governor Slaton Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. The five men whose recommendations for appointment are Eugene S. Thomas, E. P. McClelland, James H. Hildreth, T. O. Buchanan and Luther Z. Rosser, Jr. The first three named are active applicants for the position of chief justice.

PREMIUM LISTS READY FOR BOYS' CORN SHOW

Book of Information May Be Obtained From Atlanta Chamber of Commerce

Secretary Walter G. Cooper was busy all of Thursday morning signing circular letters to all parts of the state announcing that the premium list and book of information of the Boys' Corn show are ready to be mailed out by the Atlanta chamber of commerce.

The completion of this booklet marks the final step in preparation of the exhibition which will be held in the corridors of the state capitol in December. Inquiries have been coming in daily and present indications foreshadow the largest show of its kind ever before held in the south.

Aside from the Boys' Corn club the Girls' Canning club is also included in the show. This was a feature last year and this year it is sure to be an important factor in the exhibition as that contributed by the former show.

The military commanders of Atlanta have practically completed arrangements for the parade, which will be participated in by the Fifth regiment, the Marietta college cadets and the cadets of the Georgia Military academy. The Seventeenth infantry, stationed at Fort McPherson, will also be invited to take part. The parade will be a spectacular one, replete with attractive floats, the music of brass bands, the militia and the organizations that go to make up the show.

At the dinner the menu will be in accordance with the prize-winning list of edibles for which the Georgia chamber of commerce has offered a cash prize. It is expected fully 1,000 persons will sit at the banquet.

A feature of the occasion will be the presence of fifty college girls, who have volunteered their services as waitresses.

Fine Times Tomorrow in the Junior Department Third Floor

A number of Junior Suits have lost a good part of their price.

Smart Junior dresses are reduced.

Children's much needed rain capes are reduced.

There is good news of children's hats—but read it all, it is fine reading for those who think of daughter and expenses.

Fifteen Junior Suits at $11.75

They Were $15.00, $17.50 and $20.00

This is a little clearaway, a readjustment of stocks—so the saving. Included are serges, corded epingles and mixture weaves.

The coats of some have quaint little draped backs, a matter of tucks at the side; others are cutaway and others are plain, box-y, colorful, velvet collars, draped skirts; button trimmed.

Seldom do such suits find their way into such sales at this season—but we must keep stocks shipshape.

Gray and several shades of blue.

Smart Junior Suits at $15.00

=A Saving on Every One

Not many in this group.

Haste will pay a dividend.

A special lot of $15.00 that it would hardly be fair to compare with other Junior Suits around town at this price.

These are not $15.00 suits.

There are diagonal chevrons and serges among them, with coats that are oftenest blouses of the Russian persuasion, belts are placed very low; collars are of velvets; the skirts are draped. Blues and browns predominate.

At $5.00 we come to velours, corduroys and smart ratines in red, navy, black; trimmings are ribbons and feathers and soft white fur.

At $9.75 are charming velvet, beaver and imitation fur hats, many made fresh and girlish with French flowers and ribbons and feathers.

Many of these are the soft hats (they wear so well) that the young folk seem to like best this season.

Not a one among them but what would ordinarily cost more.

See them! They are splendid; made by milliners who know how.

HANK'S TWENTIETH DAY---A LITTLE FLIRTATION WITH A TIMBERMAN

---BY FARREN

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

YEARNING AGAIN. Across the Styx no politics. They say e'er betwixt. If that be so I'd like to go to Stygian shores.

On Hell's hot bricks if politics And all of such Were left behind I would not mind The change so much.

But, at that, you've got to slip it to a number of our eminent statesmen, jurists, etc. They can get by with stuff for which a professional ball player would be expelled for life and fined $1,000,000.

If baseball, football, golf and tennis were as crooked as politics this only comparatively decent game left would be wrestling. Not forgetting to put the accent on "comparatively."

COLGATE TO YALE. We're not set up with the Big Four bunch--Our way is a little crude and rough: They list us down with the bush league set--But how do you like our stuff?

We have few stars as the seasons pass With an all-American glint or gleam; But don't you think, in our humble way, We make a fair little practice team?

Princeton's attack carries a hale of speed, but sprinting through a stone wall frequently offers technical difficulties. Not that Harvard's eleven is a stone wall, for a stone wall can't kick field goals.

Having bumped against Yale, Harvard and Princeton, we don't understand why Holy Cross left Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Chicago and Minnesota off its schedule. Evidently a clerical error in arranging the menu.

"GOOD LITTLE PRACTICE TEAMS." Colgate, Pittsburgh University, W. & J. Michigan Aggies.

(For further particulars inquire of Yale, Carlisle, Cornell, Michigan, Wisconsin.)

LATE BOOKS RECEIVED. Stove up at Yale. By Eli Blew. The Wreckers. By J. H. Colgate.

"THE GOOD OLD DAYS" AGAIN. "Them was indeed the good old days" in football. The good old days for a few fellows, but the good old days have passed.

It so happens this season that Harvard has an exceptionally powerful team, but outside of Harvard we doubt if there is any great difference in the playing strength of the old time conquerors and new entries that have crowded forward.

Yale, for example, this season has no better team than Pittsburgh University, Washington, Bucknell and others once rated as minor league. We doubt if Princeton or Penn could sweep these once unknowns aside. Penn, for example, was outplayed by Carlisle and Carlisle was outplayed by Pittsburgh while the latter team was trimmed by Bucknell. Which shows a well balanced field in most cases, with the old order or a few minor league teams also gaining ground in the world of the Michigan Aggies. Tradition is a grand little institution, but it is getting a number of bad dislocations of late years and will soon be forced to retire.

How the deuce can a bloke be expected to inhale all the essence of the football season with his attention distracted from the main issue by a box score jammed in the middle of the page? Just as we lurch from E. Mahan peeling off another 46-yard run, our shifting gaze notes in the next column that doubles by Speaker and Crawford drove home from the box. When base hits are mixed up with offense plays, the only out we know of is to grab a mashie and scramble affairs still further.

THE "NOT A THING" CLUB. Sir--I've heard of ball players who struck out three times in a row and came back to the bench with the announcement that "the big stiff out there hasn't got a thing." I believe the order is now growing, extending on to football. After the game at Princeton Saturday I asked a member of the Holy Cross eleven what he thought of the Princeton team. "Nothing to 'em," he replied. "I can see 'em as a freshman team in any way." And the final answer was--Princeton, 54; Holy Cross, 6. Was this a harder knock at Princeton--or at Holy Cross?

NASSAU JACK. We'd concede Harvard a cinch Saturday if a bloke by the name of Baker wasn't on the Princeton squad. Still, Pittsburgh was beaten last Saturday with the ends guarded by Warner and Collins.

Football eleven have grabbed Baker, Warner and Collins, it's a wonder some one didn't suggest Johnson to do the forward passing. The next day's account would read like this: "Zowie University won an easy victory over Harvard today, the score being 14 to 6. The forward passes by Walter Johnson for 127 and 189 yards broke up the game. Johnson on each occasion ran fifty yards back of his own goal and then pegged the ball behind Harvard's line."

Wolverines, From Faculty To Students, Spurn W. I. C. ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 6.--By an overwhelming majority, students, faculty and Ann Arbor citizens of the University of Michigan have voted against the resumption of athletic relations with the Western Intercollegiate conference.

The result of the balloting, which was in the hands of the board of university regents, will meet November 11.

Eastern Teams In Good Shape

Saturday's Battles Promise to Be Hard Fought--Princeton Numbers Her Players

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 6.--Most of the eastern colleges have been favored with good weather for hard practice and as the big games are approaching reports come from all points that the teams are shaping up strong.

Princeton has practically wound up the rehearsal of Harvard formations. In these mimic battles the Tigers have had little difficulty in breaking up the Crimson strategy, but it is doubtful that the warriors have any great confidence of winning the real battle. Among outside observers Harvard is a pronounced favorite for the team has played consistently successful football and developed a strong system of offense, although not strong on the defense.

Princeton coaches appear to have given up the hunt for any one punter to carry the game and it is probable that Law, "Hokey" Baker, Borden will be called upon during the rest of the season to share the kicking duties.

Princeton will try the innovation of numbering its players in the Harvard game. This has been a much-talked-of idea of the season and has been employed by the Orange and Black players.

Dartmouth's team on long range is abroad almost every week end, will leave New Hampshire today, staying over in New York for further practice at Philadelphia Saturday.

In the Cornell camp with an invasion of the Michigan eleven impending there is disappointment because of O'Leary, the strong right end, has suffered serious injury received in the Harvard game and will not be able to return to Ithaca for Saturday's contest.

The Army and Navy teams will meet Saturday and Sunday, respectively. This week, Albright may prove a stronger opponent than reported, but at West Point coaches declared they are not worried about any of the Eastern teams. Every effort being made to point the way for the game with Navy in New York.

Says Players Like Rickey

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 6.--Bill McAllister, the youngest of the Sixteen Braves' coaching department, who is well remembered as the star receiver of Johnny Bobbs' Bulldogs in 1912, puts the key to the report which has been circulated throughout the country to the effect that Rickey Rickey, the Browns' new pilot, is popular with the athletes controlled by Stovall.

According to McAllister, who is now coaching the eleven of the Chattanooga High school, Rickey is the most popular manager with the players the Browns have ever possessed. McAllister speaks of Rickey as a man that is as particular concerning the habits and character of his men as he is in their baseball ability.

The former Dobber predicts a big season for the Browns next year with a team of fighting youngsters. He is of the opinion that Derrill Pratt will cover the initial cushion permanently.

Six Teams Tied In Six-Day Bicycle Race

BOSTON, Nov. 6.--The bicyclists participating in the six-day race at the arena still were unable last night to break the top six teams were tied at the lead at the end of the twenty-sixth hour of the match. Two teams were eliminated and another created last night by withdrawals and a re-riding.

When the night's racing ended the leaders had covered 838 miles, 2 laps. The Roppy-Keefe and Coburn-Carpen teams were tied for first place. Egan and Cery and all three teams were one lap behind the leaders at the close.

THE BOXERS Gossip of the Hopes and Near Hopes

Jack McFarland and Jack Britton, Chicago's star boxers, are scheduled to meet in Milwaukee for ten rounds, on November 26. This will be their third meeting. In the first scrap at Memphis, in 1911, Britton got a draw and sprang from a nonentity to a famous boxer. Fans demanded a second meeting. Britton on deducting he could finish McFarland in a ten-round match. It was staged in New York last spring and Packer gave Britton a very scientific boxing lesson, winning every round of the ten.

Britton then retired and commenced a strenuous campaign of study in boxing tactics. Now Britton again believes he is as good as McFarland and at his request Milwaukee promoters are giving Jack another try.

Following his excellent showing against Frankie Russell in New Orleans recently, Joe Rivers is being given another chance to make good before a select audience. Uncle Tom McCarry, high miler of the Venice arena, gave the derby route on Thanksgiving day. Joe and Leah have been in two previous occasions. Joe winning newspaper decisions in each fight, the route being only ten rounds. If Leah succeeds in pointing off Willie Ritchie on November 12 in New York, this will be Rivers' third try at the lightweight title within one year to date. But there is little chance of Leah stopping Ritchie.

New Manager Proposed For Watross Team

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) WATROSS, Pa., Nov. 6.--There is considerable gossip in Watross regarding the proposed change in manager for the local team of the Empire State League. Among the list is the name of Wild Bill Clark who had charge of the team at the close of the 1912 season, but members of the local board feel that a manager who is in the game every day would be preferred to a pitcher-manager.

With this in view records of several men who have been recommended are being investigated. One of the prospective managers is in position to bring to Watross one of the big league teams for sports practice and owing to his high recommendations he may land the job.

The local association has elected a manager as soon as the directors of the league hold their meeting, which will be during the present month. The Watross manager will undoubtedly be retained as a member of the pitching staff.

Whoever puts in a claim for the mid-weight title will have to reckon with Carl Morris and Jack Willard, the dominant Kansas cowpunks. Both men stand high in the ranks of heavyweight and a meeting between them ought to clarify the world's championship situation. Billy Gibson, of the Garden Athletic club, New York, has closed the match with Morris' manager and is awaiting word from Willard, who is in California, trying to pacify the law in regard to his match with Bull Young.

The meeting with Willard is expected to draw $25,000 and will probably be staged the first week in December.

Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of Great Britain is now conducting a tour through the middle west. According to Ray Brown, Welsh will meet Bronson's charge, Milburn Sayler, in a return match in Winnipeg next month.

In the previous bout Welsh claimed a foul and was sustained by the club physician and given the decision by the referee, but Sayler's supporters shout the foul claim, and the return match will be put on over which is the best man. Welsh is now scheduled to meet Eddie March in Boston in a ten-round match in Milwaukee next Monday night. Welsh is far from clever for Murphy and barring accidents will have easy time.

Gunboat Smith consistently continues to dodge every effort to rematch him with Cliff Morris. He has shown the most wonderful improvement during the last few weeks.

The night's racing ended the leaders had covered 838 miles, 2 laps. The Roppy-Keefe and Coburn-Carpen teams were tied for first place. Egan and Cery and all three teams were one lap behind the leaders at the close.

WARNER AND HIS INDIANS SPRING NEW GRID TRICK

A new play has appeared this year, devised by Glenn S. Warner, of Carlisle.

The possibilities of Warner's play were apparent at first sight, although to conform to rule exactions its legal use depends upon perfect union between center and the man fluring most prominently in the play. The rules permit one man of the attacking side to be in motion toward his own goal before the ball is put in play, and it is the latitude in that rule that Mr. Warner utilizes as the principal factor in his new play, which was worked against Pennsylvania for the first time in a public exhibition.

One of the Indian ends, usually the heaviest, moves out far beyond his tackle, immediately giving the impression that the team is about to try forward pass, and that he is the man to whom the pass is to be made. When the play reaches the required distance from the tackle he stops an instant, looks at the center and immediately dashes toward his team, which is construed as running in the direction of his own goal.

Just before he reaches the tackle nearest him he slows up momentarily and shouts a word unintelligible to the opposition but which the center interprets as the signal to put the ball in play. The end being back of the ball when it is snapped, is of course on side, and he immediately crashes into the opposing end or tackle, sometimes being able to "cut" both and put them out of the play. Right on top of him rushes two of the backs, and following immediately is the runner, who, if the play is worked perfectly, find a splendid opening and little opposition.

The Indians worked it repeatedly against the Quakers for good gains, and Warner expects to realize even more benefits from the play in future games because it, in a measure, was in a crude state of experimentation when Carlisle met Pennsylvania.

Heavyweight Title Is Vacant, Says Authority

FARIS, Nov. 6.--At a meeting of the International Boxing union at Paris last night, the world's heavyweight championship was declared vacant. The grounds of Jack Johnson's conviction in the American courts and his refusal to fight. Delegates from the United States, Britain and France were present and the action taken had the approval of the English section of the union.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.--The death of Richard Carter, Jr., aged fifty-five, known as one of the best trainers of thoroughbred horses, was announced in special cable advice from Paris. The death occurred at Chantilly Tuesday night, a few hours after Carter submitted to an operation for the removal of a kidney stone.

J. R. Smith Directing Aggressive Campaign for Spring Street-Edgewood Avenue Building Note-Piedmont Avenue, Spring Street, and Park Lane Sales Included in Thursday's Real Estate Transfers-Other Small Sales

J. R. Smith, who was appointed temporary chairman of the meeting of the Spring Street property owners, was busy Thursday selecting the members of the committee of 10, which will be actively in charge of the campaign for Spring street improvements.

The campaign is being carried on in an aggressive, businesslike fashion, and is bound to get practical results before very long. The committee of 10 will be divided into squads which will see owners on different sections of the street.

The improvements contemplate the extension of the street from Fourteenth street through to Peachtree road, and then the widening of the street through-out, and a level grade and new pavement.

Then come the plan for the great viaduct, connecting the foot of Spring street, across the railroad yards, with Madison avenue at the Terminal station.

EDGEMOOR AVENUE NOTE.
Lee H. Haskins, who owns the brick building at 104 Edgewood avenue, on Thursday took a building permit for alterations on the building to cost $2,500.

Judge Frank Park Elected To Congress From Second

ROSCOE LUKE COMES NEXT, WITH JUDGE COVINGTON THIRD IN RACE TO SUCCEED LATE CONGRESSMAN S. A. RODDENBERRY

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 6--Practically complete returns show that Judge Frank Park, of Sylvester, won yesterday in the special election to fill the unexpired term of the late Congressman S. A. Roddenberry, of the Second district, by a plurality of 137 votes over Roscoe Luke, majority of Thomsville, and his nearest opponent, Judge W. A. Covington, of Macon, running third.

Judge Park received 525 votes; Mr. Luke, 451, and Judge Covington a total of 1,474. Since the votes of the entire district are counted in the aggregate, this elects Judge Park.

Of the twelve counties in the district Judge Park carried seven--Baker, Calhoun, DeKalb, Douglas, Glynn, McIntosh and Thomas--by handsome majorities. Mr. Luke won in the counties of Tift, Thomas, Miller and Grady. Judge Park is chairman of only his home county, Colquitt.

The vote by counties follows:
County Park Luke Covington
Baker 206 410 174
Calhoun 126 156 182
DeKalb 100 229 75
Douglas 100 229 75
Glynn 100 229 75
McIntosh 100 229 75
Thomas 100 229 75
Total 1,388 1,474

Judge Park is known as one of the most aggressive of the new breed of politicians. He has presided over the courts of the Albany county several times and formerly was judge of the county court of Agriculture. He is chairman of the board of trustees of the Second District Agricultural College, one of the best known law offices of the state.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Nov. 6--Since the election of Judge Frank Park to Congress, the race for the seat on the superior court bench is attracting much attention at present.

MRS. COOK AND HUSBAND EXCHANGE COMPLIMENTS
She Says He Cursed Her, and He Says She Drinks--Wife Given Alimony

Charges and counter charges marked the closing of the divorce suit of Mrs. L. L. Cook against J. L. Cook, of the superior court, Wednesday.

Mrs. Cook declared that on the morning of the divorce she was peacefully sleeping at her home at 234 East Hunter street, when she was awakened by her husband, who came into her room and saw her husband standing over her while she was in bed.

When she arose in bed he did not try to get out of the room, but stood there cursing.

His wife's stream of profanity flow from his lips for the next two hours. She declared that she was so frightened that she fled from the room and hid in the kitchen.

She declared that she was so frightened that she fled from the room and hid in the kitchen.

His wife has a bad temper and has threatened to kill her husband with her hands, using fire, stones, shovels or anything else she could get her hands on.

The trouble, however, in their domestic affairs, the husband asserts, is a boarder with whom he charges his wife.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge J. L. Cook ordered the husband to the custody of his three children, the oldest of whom is twelve years and the youngest, a girl, is only two years old.
